The Cincinnati-Hamilton County Community Action Agency is holding the 15th Annual Head Start Early Childhood Learning Institute.

The Institute is a three-day workshop where almost 300 teachers, parents, administrators, and staff members will attend 60 workshops and seminars.

The teachers and administrators come from almost 65 local centers responsible for teaching Hamilton County's preschoolers.

Psychology expert, Dr. Linda James Myers, will give the keynote address on Wednesday. She is an Associate Professor at Ohio State University.

Kings Island's Conference Center is holding the event.

Hamilton County Head Start is a program that helps low-income families by providing preschool to children and service to parents who are the primary educators.
