

Hello Friend,

This week we have started to see businesses reopen, and we are starting to get a feel for what the “new normal” will look like. At CAA, we know it is going to take time and a lot of planning to ensure that our clients and staff are safe. Our management team meets regularly to discuss what is working and to rethink how we have operated in the past in order to be as safe and efficient as we can be.

This has been a true learning experience for us all, but one thing that I do know is that our staff has done an amazing job staying focused on what matters the most - the needs of those in our community. Please continue to share our resources with your networks. And thank you for your support!

Warm Regards,
Mark B. Lawson, Esq.
CEO/ President
